WNMU Information

WNMU is a state university located in Silver City, New Mexico roughly a 9 hour drive from San Diego. Small class sizes and a dedicated staff of professors provide the opportunity for an excellent education at an affordable cost. In the last few years WNMU has become a popular choice for Southern California football players. Our roster will be roughly 60% So-Cal for the 2017 season. We have signed well over 40 players from the San Diego area over the past 7 seasons from over 25 schools in the San Diego area. WNMU competes in the Lonestar Conference which is highly competitive and has produced consistent NFL talent.

Camp Information

The purpose of this camp is for the coaching staff to work on football techniques that will enhance the ability of each high school player in attendance. It also gives the staff a chance to evaluate all camp participants as potential college players. The 2 day camp will be in full pads in order to get the best work in. Make sure to have a mouth piece. If you cannot bring your helmet and shoulder pads you we will have some rentals available , but only about 20 sets so bring your own if at all possible. There will also be multiple other college staffs represented and working the camp to help give you more exposure!
